

Uno

Children at play
with a parent
and grandparent.

The game itself
is important to each and all.

But not in the winning, losing,
as sometime seems.

What matters is
life passing by,
age after age.

And unity,
the harmony
between players.

Uno is its name,
properly so--
one in many.

Relationships
flourishing here
as ev'ning falls.